My name is Matthew Hays. I've been making and selling flash based cartoons for more than 5 years. If you're interested, you can check out my recent works at Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a mechanical pencil. 2. Description of the Related Art A mechanical pencil includes, as main constituent elements, a first case having a barrel fixed to a tip end of a holder with a thread, and a second case rotatable relative to the first case about the thread, having a rear end (rear end pressurizing portion), a first sleeve, a second sleeve, and a coil spring interposed between the rear end and the second case. In use, when a pencil body is rotated relative to the first and second cases, the barrel is moved forward so as to write. One of the conventional mechanical pencils includes the first and second cases respectively including a first rear end and a second rear end, and the first rear end and the second rear end being connected with each other by a disk. The second case includes the coil spring. The disk has a hole formed therethrough. The first rear end and the disk are joined with each other by press fitting or caulking. When the first rear end and the disk are joined by press fitting, a bolt hole is formed at a location corresponding to the joining. When the first rear end and the disk are joined with each other by caulking, the bolt hole is formed between the first rear end and the disk. When the first rear end and the disk are joined with each other by caulking, two holes are formed at the same time. However, the hole is enlarged when the bolt and the first rear end are joined with each other by press fitting or caulking. Hence, the diameter of the hole is significantly larger than that when the first rear end and the disk are joined with each other by press fitting
