In the latest version of the application, we have introduced a lot of new features and improved the general look and feel of the application. Overall, I think you will find it easy to use and to benefit from. Linking to your social networks was very easy, which is why, this functionality was left intact. The improved images in the application and the more refined interface have made the user experience smoother. Interesting social integration Aside from linking to your social network accounts, PrivacyGuard provides two useful features to users: a configuration panel which will allow you to customize your software and an audit log which keeps track of your activity. You can generate a personal referral code, so that your contacts can add you directly to their social network without having to copy/paste your referral link. Of course, you can also set a referral code for your friends and they will automatically join your social network if they are willing to share your choice. These are the type of features that PrivacyGuard should have from the very beginning. It would be even better if these features are integrated into the design of the application but, the best is to have them, regardless. It would be great if PrivacyGuard could generate referral codes for your contacts, instead of forcing them to use a specific URL, which could make it more difficult for them to know where and how they can contact you directly. You can share your code and your friends will receive it automatically, whether they are on Facebook, Twitter, Google+ or Google+ and there is even a specific button in the application itself for you to click. Simple and functional layout Regardless of the size of your screen, PrivacyGuard will look nice and it will be much easier to explore all the features you have at your fingertips. The application is very easy to use and the program itself is not very big, so there should not be any issues with integrating it into your Windows environment. The layout of the application is quite simple and the features are arranged into
