To use Photoshop effectively, you need to know what the program does and how to use the tools. There are four main areas of the program: Toolbox, Layers, Gradient Map, and Paths. # Toolbox The Toolbox is one of the main areas of the program, as it contains the tools and implements the editing actions on layers. There are 20 tools available in the Toolbox, grouped into the following categories: painting tools, filters, effects, adjustment tools, and drawing tools. The painting tools usually contain small brushes (brushes with a small diameter) and larger brushes. The smaller brushes are used for accurate small edits or for minor touch-ups to an image. The larger brushes are used for larger selections of pixels and areas of an image. The filters category contains numerous filter options. They are used for creative effects such as blurring, burning, and underexposure. The Filter Gallery also includes other options such as Pixelate, Outer Glow, Invert, High Pass, and Vignette. The effects category has several methods for applying effects to an image. The adjustment tools include Shadows/Highlights, Curves, Color Balance, Levels, and Color Adjust. These tools allow you to make slight changes to an image to fine-tune the image's colors. The drawing tools include a Selection Brush, Pencil, and Text tools. These tools are used for drawing shapes and text directly into the image. The right-click menu contains a number of tools that are accessible from the menu. By right-clicking with the mouse, you can access the menu with all of the tools listed and dozens of other options. # Layers Photoshop has a limited number of tools that affect multiple pixels, so Photoshop has added a layer system that allows you to create multiple layers for editing. You can add order allow,deny allow from all to your.htaccess or add ErrorDocument 403 /403.php Q: MSDeploy to Azure not working with KeyVault / ADFS I've been trying to get a WebApp (MSDeploy) behind Azure ADFS to work. I've followed the instructions on this page and added AuthWebServerRedirectEnabled = true AuthCertificateRenewalMode = automatic AuthCertificateLoggingMode = off AuthCertificateLogServer = off AuthCertificateThumbprint = to the Web.config I've also verified that my Service Principal has rights to the Key Vault. Everything works fine, I get a nice access token and the IdentityToken works just fine on a ADFS server/client. As a reference: HTTP Error 401.3 – Unauthorized: Access is denied due to invalid credentials Additional information: The remote server returned an error: (401) Unauthorized. I've never before encountered a scenario where the token works perfectly, then the Azure Portal does not pick up the authentication, but I'm perplexed that it works from the PowerShell script, and it works with the ADFS tests.
