The Ontario Court of Appeal has cleared the way for former Progressive Conservative MPP Randy Hillier's bid for a judicial review of the Speaker's decision not to let him run for the leadership of the party. The court has upheld a lower court ruling that the Speaker erred when he rejected Mr. Hillier's request to enter the leadership race. Story continues below advertisement In his earlier appeal, Mr. Hillier had argued that it is a breach of the law for a Speaker or MPP to rule a nomination is invalid and that only the leader of a party can decide whether or not to run for the job. The case was heard in court Friday, a few weeks after the ruling of the speaker's panel, which cleared the field for former Tory cabinet minister Christine Elliott. Mr. Hillier's lawyer, Peter Nick
