"I'm sure many people have already played the game but since I haven't, I would like to give you an opinion on it. Elden Ring Product Key is a RPG with a VN setting from the anime "Fate/Grand Order". It seems like a game made by someone who is also the original work's creator. The game is currently based on the Fate/Grand Order branch Fate/Apocrypha since the first chapter was released but a new route will be added and the first chapter will be adapted. The game also features minigames and online play for the first time. It's a game that was announced in the 30th Anniversary FGO event, which took place in June. Although it's a VRPG that uses the card system, its design seems unique. The game's story focuses on a one day, the day that the Dimensional Mirror called Elden, which can be moved freely, opens, and in which characters born from Elden appear. It also involves guilds that can be cultivated in the Land Between. The prologue chapter of this story was released on June 30. The game has a cute enough heroine and male heroines who are really beautiful. The joy of the game will be something you can feel for yourself if you experience it. I think there are many players who want a change in the Fate/ Grand Order when it comes to the card system so I think Elden Ring will give you a nice feeling. It's still early but I'm looking forward to the future." -"Pokemon Games Master" "I played Elden Ring because it's a game by the creator of Fate Grand Order, and it's a VRPG game. I was also curious about how VRPGs are. The main story of the VRPG is that there are a lot of wonderful girls appearing and disappearing. Once I started playing the game, I wanted to know more and soon found myself wanting to find out who the various characters are. The story is that Reena is a character from the Fate Grand Order anime where she is one of the heirs to the royal family. And of course you will say that this is the character who is a faithful friend to Amie. However, in this world where so many worlds exist, the Dimensional Mirror calls Elden, which can be moved freely through the Land Between. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a low-noise quadrupole inductive ion trap mass spectrometer, a combination of such a spectrometer and a method of trapping ions of a sample in a quadrupole ion trap mass spectrometer; more particularly, the present invention is directed to a low-noise quadrupole inductive ion trap mass spectrometer in which the generation of a defocused electric field in the trapping region by the deflection unit is suppressed to control the repelling potential, and a method of trapping ions of a sample in a quadrupole ion trap mass spectrometer using an electric field generated by a combination of static and AC potentials applied to an inductor-electrode.

2. Description of the Related Art A quadrupole ion trap mass spectrometer has the advantages of a compact structure and a simple mass selection. Therefore, it is widely used in fields such as various kinds of biochemistry and bioengineering, and the like. Since ions are trapped by applying a combination of a DC and an AC potential, its mass is determined by the frequency of the AC potential. As an example of an existing patent of such a quadrupole ion trap mass spectrometer, there is a patent document 1 (Japanese Patent Laid-Open Hei 6-94614), which describes a quadrupole ion trap mass spectrometer provided with a mass analysis unit and a deflection unit for attracting ions to the mass analysis unit. This quadrupole ion trap mass spectrometer separates ions by introducing an electric field to the sample solution containing ions, and is able to trap ions over a wide range of mass number. Also, in this quadrupole ion trap mass spectrometer, a mass calculation can be performed with a high mass resolution in order to enable a rare ion or an isotope to be detected. Further, in recent years, the tendency of miniaturization in the mass analysis unit
